Because, by his alertness and sensitivity to the ideals and goals of both his students and his colleagues, by his imparting the message through precept and example that the good life and the fair life are one, by his insistence upon serving the common welfare; because by these tokens he has contributed immeasurably to making the life at Maryland State College a good life for four dedicated, busy years; in sum, because he is a good man who does good things from which we have all benefited, we dedicate this issue of THE HAWK to

Foreword

What is the good life? By whatever criteria one seeks to answer this question, he can exemplify them in the college environment. The good life, we are told by our faculty, is the examined life. The good life, we are told by our deans, contains the search for spiritual and moral values as well as the striving for social grace. The good life is the joyous life, we tell ourselves in moments of relaxation. The good life is the directed life, we are told by the men and women who head our organizations. What gives dignity and meaning to life, we are told by the fast men of the track, football field, and basketball court, is excellence of technique in doing something that expresses life. All these definitions contribute to a whole. Taken together, they present a variety that makes life full, exciting, challenging, confirming that what we will, hope, and dream of the good life can exist. THE HAWK invites your perusal of aspects of the good life at Maryland State College in 1962-63.

HERE COME THE 66'ERS

Dean Polk greets arrivals for fall session.

"Now be sure to dress carefully for President Williams' welcome reception for new students."

"The President hopes that you will enjoy your stay at Maryland State College. Ask your counselor for help."

President Williams, his housekeeper (Mrs. Ruth Collick), and Home Ec Majors Carolyn Doswell, Hanna Washington, Yvonne McClain, and Doris Kennedy, prepare for reception to new students.

HOMECOMING: 1962

This year marked the first time in the memory of loyal alumni and friends for a Homecoming crowd to see the mighty Hawks go down in defeat. A bitterly fought contest with a tough N.C.A. and T. opponent had excitement, color, thrills and glamor. Our largest reunion in a number of years brought back the grads and former students of some twenty to thirty years. A procession of fraternity sweethearts, class queens, and lovely girls from all over the Eastern Shore graced the floats; a swinging Homecoming dance ended a day to remember.

With the aid of Aliceen Young, Pat Ellis, and Bernice Washington, Miss Maryland State (Carolyn Thompson) prepared for the happiest day of her college career—her coronation.

Miss Maryland State, Her Attendants, Their Escorts: Audrey Jones and Benjamin Purkett; Patty Thomas and Robert Taylor; Consuela Armwood and Stephen Cuyjet; Dolores Chippey and Earl Richardson; Alma Hall and Lewis Powell; Thelma Bell and William Finger; Aleta Weedon and Willie Mercer, Enez Bowins and Frank Garrett; Shirley Proctor and Donald Mitchell, Crownbearer; Clifton Anderson, Jr. Junior Attendants: Cassandra Mosley and Joyce Gates.

Awaiting their Queen: A bevy of charming beauties.

“Thy Children Strong”

Homecoming fans hear about recent football history from these MSC "greats": Dean Harris, Robert Taylor, '63; Robert Stacker, '51; Joe Robinson, '61; Cal Martin, '51; Professor Thomas, Homecoming Committee Chairman.

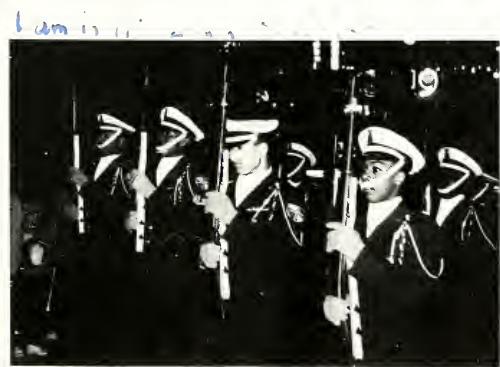

Professor Mosley supervises Alvin Pope, '65 on floor, and Ernest Satchell, '63, in float building.

Home Ec. Float: Mildred Kelly, Doris Kennedy, Laura Jones.

First Prize Float, Class of 1965.

Christmas Parade in Salisbury: Miss Maryland State's float won a prize.

"All her sons are brave, and all her daughters are beautiful."

Miss Maryland State

Dainty and petite (five feet two) Carolyn Thompson reigned with quiet distinction as Miss Maryland State during 1962. An English major with a winsome dimple, Carolyn likes to read, composes poetry, steps high with majorettes. Our girl out of Cambridge, Maryland, is in Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society, a member of the HAWK staff, and for two years has been one of the BWOC chosen for Who's Who. She plans a career as a high school English teacher but thinks one should combine this one with marriage and a family. Dignity, excellence in scholarship, and a desire to serve her fellow students make Miss MSC an exemplar of the good life at her alma mater.

Rather overwhelmed by her good luck, a happy English major poses at fountain below steps of Library of Congress with Dean of American poets Langston Hughes following Mr. Hughes' address at National Poetry Festival.

Service with the HAWK as staff correspondent.

Woman of the Year

Bernice Washington, a senior with cute freckles and a shy grin, was women's choice for Woman of the Year, a very popular choice indeed. A Business Education major, Bernice plans to teach. She has been in just about every organization there is on campus, and her kind heart, tact, and ability to lead unobtrusively have propelled her into positions of leadership everywhere—Women's Council, Delta Sigma Theta, Hayes Loan Fund, Student Counselors, and a host of others. Quiet, busy, purposeful, with a sense of mission, Bernice meets everyone's criteria for the selection of our First Co-Ed.

Helping to make decisions with the Hayes Loan Fund.

Long hours of tedious work with HAWK staff in 1961 and 1962.

As the Hawk Flies Nestward . . .

Final word to the staff members of the HAWK, 1962-63, from one of the advisers was a poetic reminder: "Good life, be now your task; your doubts are done."

For better or for worse, the doubting and the working stages are over, and here are your editors who presented their look at the good life at MSC.

A splendid Colt (Lennie Lyles) and a mighty Hawk (Editor Thomas Wilson) examine the flying bird.

Lay-out Editor Donald Blanks, meeting a problem qualifies for title "The Thinker."

Here's a lay-out editor with a nice problem indeed: How to put a ribbon on a typewriter. Lay-out problem, Warfield?

Last year our man on layout Donald Mitchell (second from right) was Little Brother in Sigma. But ask any HAWK staffer who made the big difference in the completion of work on this edition and he'd say "Big Brother Mitchell."

Lay-out Editor Garnes (left) and Art Editor Pope, two high-flying Hawks who gave of their time and talents without stint, earned the gratitude of entire staff.

Three wonderful men in blue came down from the wild blue yonder to put the AFROTC story together, and when that was done they helped with all the other chores: Anderson, Robbins, Nunnally.

Second-year HAWK staffer Carroll Marcus, another quiet type one might just sum up by saying he's the truest penny a HAWK adviser could ask for—faithful in attendance, meticulous in details, always ready to serve.

Here comes "Kiki," Sports Editor, who simply can't let that fooball go, even when coming in for a stint on HAWK sports.

They're the quiet, casual type, but so terrifically efficient they overwhelm you: the working team of Wainwright and Plummer—on sports, captions, everything.

Thanks, Mr. Wiles!
